

concert information

Thank you for your interest in this concert by the Brodsky Quartet on Saturday 9 June 2018. This is being put on by Nourish, the festival whose main event takes place at the end of the summer, and is now in its fifth year.

parking

As in many country towns, parking can be difficult in Bovey Tracey. The venue does not have parking of its own (though the Parish Church can offer a few spaces to disabled people), so your first choice will be the car parks on Mary Street, Le Molay Littry Way and Station Road.

Since this will be the weekend of the Contemporary Craft Festival, it is possible there will be parking in Mill Marsh Park the you could use.

Whilst there is some on-street parking this will be limited. All in all, make sure you arrive in good time to find a parking place before making your way to the venue.

at the venues

Seating is unreserved and is on a first come, first served basis.

At the Parish Church, pillars mean that there is a restricted view from some seats. You will need to arrive in good time to secure one of the best seats. Seating is in pews, so for your comfort we strongly recommend you bring a cushion.

disabled access

The Parish Church has level wheelchair access through the Tower door (ask a steward, and the door will be opened). There are also a few spaces for disabled people's cars to be parked in the Church car park or by the Tower, but these are extremely limited in number.
